Who serves on the Awards committee?

The committee is comprised of a chairman, who is named by the TAEA President for a two year term. Subsequent terms may be continued at the discretion of each new TAEA President. The committee also contains all Executive Board members, and at least two TAEA fellows. Finally, all remaining committee members are selected from throughout the six TAEA Areas, from those members who show leadership initiative, and may be currently serving in a leadership capacity for TAEA. All areas of the state are equally represented.

How are awardees decided upon?

Nominees are all asked to submit three letters of recommendation, their standardized VITAE form, and their short educational philosophy within six weeks of the closing of nominations.

All Nominee's letters, documents of support, photos, Vitae, and supporting documents are collected electronically and submitted to every committee member on CD for balloting.

All Committee members are asked to peruse the CD collection of each individual who was nominated, and to make a selection in each category or division of award. Ballots are then returned to the Awards Chairman by Sept. 1.

Nominees and Awardees are then notified of the ballot results following the receipt of all committee decisions.

the HONORS

When are the awards presented?

The TAEA Executive committee recently voted to support a change in the process of Awards presentation. With the elimination of the Opening Luncheon and Awards Ceremony, the addition of the First General Session of Celebration of the Arts was instated. All Awards will be presented before the general membership as the state conference commences.

Nominators will be asked to present their Awardees to membership, and the Honoree will be asked to give their "words of wisdom" to the art educators in the assembly at that time.

When are the awards publicized?

Press releases will be sent to the Honorees and their Supervisors by Oct 1 announcing their upcoming award ceremony at the state conference.

Awardees are celebrated at the First General Session of the state conference.

Bios of those awardees are published to the entire membership through the Winter edition of the TAEA Star following the state conference.

What are the expectations of the honorees?

Honorees will be requested to attend the First General Session of the state conference to receive their award.

Honorees of each division will be requested to make a simple presentation at their Division meeting to their colleagues in their respective areas.

Honorees, who are also NAEA members, may automatically nominated by our one of our Executive Board to the NAEA awards program the following year. All nomination submissions to NAEA must be complete by October 1 of the year following the TAEA Award receipt.

Are there any perks that come with the Honor?

The honor bestowed upon the individual, and the award received at presentation is currently all that is offered. A reception honoring the Awards recipients is a decision made by each Executive Council individually for each state conference event.

No stipends or honorariums are attached to these honors, as this is a service based organization, not for profit.

Past HONOREES Words of Wisdom

“I began teaching because I loved children. I now teach because I love to watch children discover the hidden secrets they themselves hold.

Raquel Beechner, MS/JH Division Outstanding Art Educator 2005

“It’s all about the Visual~Make it fun!!” Cindi Garrett, MS/JH Division Outstanding Art Educator 2004

“I have always believed we are given gifts in life and how we respond to these gifts controls our destiny.” Nicole D. Brisco, HS Division Outstanding Art Educator 2006

“Life is a puzzle without a picture on the box. None us know what final image we will create. Learning occurs when students can attach one puzzle piece to another and reveal more of their unique image. I am driven to supply all of the pieces I can to my students.”

Denise Clyne-Ruch, Elementary Division Outstanding Art Educator 2008

“Art and museum education have healing potential as this dynamic avenue provides a positive, transformative experience in our lives and our communities.”

Rebecca Martin, Outstanding Museum Division Art Educator 2008
