Polychrome Sgraffito Workshop & Adopenia Workshop

Polychrome Sgraffito with Artist Jamie Adams: In this workshop you will throw & alter pottery using Ovaling and Darting Techniques. Sgraffito, Moshima, Clay Inlay and Underglazes will also be covered. Making polychrome clay bodies will be discussed.

Apopenia: An Intuitive Mixed-Media Image with Artist Stephanie Jung:

"Apopenia" refers to the human desire to create order out of chaos (as we do when recognizing an image in clouds). This process-based workshop will utilize multiple steps, beginning with "touch monotype". You will create a mixed-media image that can be customized to include a variety of additional techniques and be geared toward multiple types of content.

More on the workshop presenters:

Jamie Adams: Jamie is a West Texas-based sculptor and ceramicist. His art is characterized by vibrant colors, allusions to art history and pop culture, and an insistent uses of new technologies in his work. His artwork is in many private residences throughout the U.S. and is in several public collections including Erie Art Museum, Francis Marion University, The Amity Art Foundation, among others. He studied at Edinboro University of Pennsylvania. Adams currently serves as Assistant Professor of 3D Art at West Texas A&M University.

Stephanie Jung: Stephanie Jung is a Visual Arts faculty member at Amarillo College, where she teaches Drawing, 2-D Design and Art History. She holds a BFA in Painting, an MA in Art History and an MFA in Painting, all from the University of Oklahoma. Her personal practice focuses on figure drawing and the intersection of art, nature and intuition.

All materials & lunch will be included in a $50 workshop fee.
